Excerpt: . . . gests as much. 40 As for clearness, he writes, many Christian Science people thought her earlier editions much better, because they sounded more like Mrs. Eddy. The truth is that she does not care to have her paragraphs clear, and delights in so expressing herself that her words may have various readings and meanings. Really, that is one of the tricks of the trade. You know, Sibyls have always been thus oracular, to keep the word of promise to the ear and break it to the hope. Allow this theory, however, the fullest application, and the book nevertheless remains hopelessly incompetent. Wiggin puts his finger on the true cause when he adds: Quimby had definite ideas but Mrs. Eddy has not understood them. Her ability lay in other spheres than in that of philosophic thought and literary expression. Mrs. Eddys pantheism deprived her, of course, of a personal God, and she insisted on the impersonality of God with the utmost vigor. 41 But she rightly found what she calls the leading factor in Mind-Science, in the consequent proposition that Mind (with a capital M) is all, and matter is naught; or as she otherwise expresses it, that the only realities are the divine mind and its ideas; 42 nothing possesses reality and existence except God. 43 She sums up her entire teaching in four fundamental propositions which she declares to be self-evident, and so true that they are still true if they are read backwards:...
